PASSES SENATE

After a Warm Debate Extending Over Two and a Half Hours.

ALLISON LEADS OPPOSITION

Some Senators Supported the Bill Out of Deference to the Wishes of Their Constituents.

The McMillan anti-compulsory vaccination bill passed the Senate yesterday afternoon with a vote of 13 to 5, after an earnest discussion that was extended over two and a half hours. So far as is known, however, there was not an opinion changed or a conviction altered by the appeals that were made. It may be said in justice to some of the members who supported the bill, that they personally expressed a faith in the efficacy of vaccination, but felt bound to support the measure in deference to the wishes of their constituencies. The most able champion of the opposition was Senator Allison, part of whose argument appeared in last evening's "News." He contended fervently that the passing of the bill might result in the members of the health board resigning, "then what would your wives and children do?" exclaimed the Senator. What means would be in your hands to prevent the spread of the contagion. Senator Thomas suggested that it would be a good thing perhaps if the members of the board would resign. "What would you do then." asked Senator Allison, "give the power to the lo-cal health boards? I have heard that but it isn't worth anything. While the board of health in one locality might enforce vaccination the board n the next district might be lax and the matter becomes a farce." Senator Allison said that he suffered from the smallpox when a lad and that he was deprived of his liberty, more than he would have been had he been subjected to vaccination. He expressed the firm belief that vaccination was efficacious, that the sentiment in the State in regard to it was misdirected and that the measure should not pass. TANNER NOT CONVINCED.

Senator Tanner said that he would support the bill because he was not yet converted to the efficacy of vaccination. Furthermore the board of health had exceeded the power intended to be given it by the last Legislature. The major-ity of the people of the State felt that raccination was not a good thing. The board of health, while being stringent in its efforts to vaccinate the school children, was very careless in regard to quarantine. He had met a man on one of the main streets of this city in whose family there was smallp and yet the house was not quarantined. The McMillan bill is only expressing what was designed to be expressed two years ago, but the board of health had taken advantage of a technicality. thought that the people of this State would revolt against the rule of the health board if the pending measure did not pass. The people are demandhe circumstances he said it was the luty of the Senate to pass it. Senator Bennion also expressed some skepticism as to the virtues of vaccina-tion. He also believed that the State board of health had been unwise in the way it had gone about to accomplish If vaccination be made compulsory it should apply to everybody, and be made a condition precedent to entering places of amusement such as theaters, dances and any public gathering.

HIS PEOPLE WISH IT.

Senator Smoot said that his people vere opposed to compulsory vaccination and yet they could pass as intelligently on any public measure as any people They desired him to support the McMillan bill and he proposed to de

Senator Murdock thought that if vaccination is enforced it ought to begin with the Governor and then the Senate, larting at the head and going to the feet. "Would you support such a measure?" asked Allison.

Personally I would be in favor of just such a measure," replied Murdock, "but two-thirds of my constituents are opposed to compulsory vaccination and am here to represent them.

I am here to represent them.

In the meantime Senator Allison had been exercising his grey matter with the result that he had the following amendment to make in the title of the bill, "An act to promote the spread of contagious diseases." Klesel seconded but when it was put to a vote Allison's lone treble voice was heard in the

THOMAS GIVES REASONS. Senator Thomas said that he had been opposed to vaccination for twenty years, and that opposition had come about through observation and study. He read from an eminent English physician who inveighed against vaccination in strong terms

Senator Love said that he believed in the efficacy of vaccination, his con-stituents wished him to support the bill and he would therefore do so. Senator Barnes and Larson spoke in favor of the bill, deeming it their duty to carry out the wishes of their constituents.

WHITNEY SUPPORTS BILL,

Senator Whitney said that he would take for his text of a very brief dis-course, 'I came not to do my will but those who sent me." He couldn't see why the Senator from

Weber (Allison) could believe in im-munity when he had had smallpox when a boy and had broken out two or three times during the session. He ther said that some arguments are best answered by silence. He then referred to Thomas Carlyle's beautiful tribute to silence, and commended it to the junior senator from Weber along with the Swiss proverb, "Speech is silver, but silence is golden."

"I support this measure," concluded Senator Whitney, "because my constitu-ents wish me to, not because I am a foe to vaccination or an enemy of the health board."

Senator Alder was unqualifiedly in favor of vaccination. He thought that it was the greatest protective measure was the greatest protective measure known to medical science. He said that the children of Utah were the most precious of all the State's possessions, and he honored the health officers for doing all they could to protect them from the postflore.

Senator Allison had the last inning, and in reply to Senator Whitney, he and in reply to Senator Whitney, he said, that he had not read the particular passages of Carlyle referred to by the senator, but he had read the story of senator, but he had read the story of Don Quixote, and he remembered that Don Quixote rode a horse at the head of the procession and Sancho Panza rode an ass at the rear. "Now I would rather be on a horse leading the proession, then like Sancho Panza, riding an ass at the rear."

Senator Smoot called for the roll call and the vote was as follows: For the bill—Barnes. Bennion, Howell, Johnson, Larsen, Love, Murdock, Smoot, Tanner, Thomas, Whitmore, Whitney, Evans— 13. Opposed—Alder, Allison, Kiesel, Lawrence, Sherman—5.

Director Stephens desires to make the ollowing explanations to parents and teachers interested.

The red ticket is the yearly class ad-mission ticket, and will entitle the holder to every privilege of the class. Con certs, excursions, as well as rehearsals and lessons, under the auspices of the class, for one year from the date of th organization of the class-not from the first (so every week that goes by before your children join is your, or their, loss). There will be a reaction, as in the public schools. Though it is expected that a couple of grand excursions will be taken, and rehearsals held o prepare for a musical program fo he same, during the summer months. The blue tickets, four of which have been given every child on payment of the one dollar yearly tuition, should be carefully kept until such time as we shall give a "grand class concert in the Tabernacle, for which they may be sold at 25 cents each, at any time until the day of performance. But none must be sold on the streets or at the gates or on the grounds on the night of perforamnce. What is sold her must go to the "Tabernacle choir fund, What is sold here and will be a different ticket. This is partly so that the little singers will no be interfered with in their work at and tor the performance on that day. The public will be warned against buying any excepting at the box office-so let them be bought from the children be-fore the night of performance, and the $1 paid for tuition will be refunded in Children are in honor bound not to sell them for less than regular price, as that will work injury to one another, and the class. Of course parents desiring to use them without pay-ing their children for them can do so. But they wrong the class and its individual members by underselling. And any one found doing so will not be reidmitted into the class. The time for this concert is not yet set, but will be at such a time as will be deemed best for the present and future good of the class, only within the school year, and will be a fine concert, and not a class exhibition in any sense. The first class of 400 members will be prepared to take up the study of reading music immediately after the Sousa concert, and parents must see to it that they are supplied with readers-costing 50 cents, or they will have to be put back into the second class where the preparatory training is attended to antil they have the book from which to After the coming week the division will be made, and class No. 2 will meet at 12:30 Saturdays, class No. at 2:15-about the same as now-only they must not come before 2 p. m. and disturb the other class. RUDOLPH STORM WANTED. Mount Pleasant Man Comes to Salt Lake and is Not Heard From Since.

This morning Police Officer John Hempel received a letter from G. W. Brand of Mt. Pleasant, asking for information regarding the whereabouts of Rudolph Storm of that place. The letter states that Storm came to Salt Lake on the 25th of January, and registered at the Walker House, and that he has not been seen since that time. He has a wife and six children, and his family has become worried over his absence, and they fear that something of a serious nature has happened to him. Officer Hempel says that Storm bears a good reputation, that he does not drink or camble, and he is at a loss to know why he remains away from his

Speaker Glasmann Pays His Respects to the Railroads.

EQUAL TAX RATE FOR ALL.

Discrepancies at Present Time Are Little Short of Criminal, He Thinks New Measures Introduced.

In his onslaught yesterday afternoon against the lack of uniformity of taxation in the State, in which he endeavored to show that while the individual was paying a high rate of taxation on property the wealthy corporations were assessed at amounts ridiculously below their actual holdings, Mr. Glasmann, after he had gotten through with scoring the banks gave the railroads at-

"The Rio Grande Western is assessed on $4,477,000. In its report to the interstate commerce commission, the company valued its property in the Stateat $35,940,000. The Oregon Short Line is assessed on $3,829,000, and its report valued its property at $26,966,000. The Central Pacific, with holdings in the State of over $20,000,000, is taxed on $1,500,000, and the Union Pacific is assessed at $861,000, although to the interstate commission it owned up to $6, 800,000. Are not these figures arguments for my bill for uniform taxation? I want to pass a law under which, if the assessor can be impeached and moved if he does not assess as the law demands.

TO CATCH TAX DODGERS.

Mr. Glasmann then read statistics of considerable length showing laws that eastern States had passed to catch the tax dodgers. When he came to Illinois he said that the figures paid by railroads in that State had opened his eyes. Besides the taxation on their property in the State, according to an old law drawn up by Stephen A. Douglas, and Abraham Lincoln in 1851, the railroads paid 7 per cent of their gross earnings to the State, and last year the Illinois Central paid in this way over $750,000. It would only be a matter of time when this burden of taxation on the poor would make them all socialists, anarchists or Populists. The tax dodging in this State probably exempted property worth $100,000,000 from taxation every year.

"I bought a piece of property in Ogden two years ago for $1,600. I found it was assessed at $2,600, and another for which I paid $2,500 was rated at REPLIES TO QUESTIONS.

COUNTY HEALTH BOARD. Chairman Anderson Says it Will Enforce All Necessary Rules.

Chairman Anderson, of the county board of health, was asked by a"News" reporter today if he had anything to say relative to the action of Dr. Jones, of Murray, in endeavoring to b ve the county attorney prosecute the trustees of certain county school districts, for allowing unvaccinated children to attend school. Mr. Anderson said that according to sections 9 and 12, of chap-ter 45, of the last session laws, it was the duty of the local boards of health to enforce necessary rules and regula-tions concerning smallpox and other contagious diseases; that it is the duty of all physicians or other persons to report all cases of infectious diseases to the local board of health. Dr. Jones is only a member of the board, and not the local board, of health, and therefore should have reported all al-leged violations of the law to the board whose duty it is to enforce the law, rules and regulations, whatever same may be, governing such cases. the Chairman Anderson says the local board of health will enforce all rules and regulations as the law provides.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good is Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testi-monial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of with-out permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houlehan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured turned to it when I got a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines.

Reports show a greatly increased death rate from throat and lung troubles, due to the prevalence of croup, pneumonia and grippe. We advise the use of One Minute Cough Cure in all of these difficulties. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Children like it. F. C. Schramm.
